

Defend Further Education! No to Cuts and Job Losses at Sussex Downs College

These Cuts Mean:

- Major A-Level courses won't be run in Eastbourne including all foreign languages
- Students told courses won't run just weeks before starting
- Only 12 A-Level teaching hours a week for full time students
- Teachers losing their Jobs
- Library Shutting
- Counselling Service Cut Completely

Support Our Strikes - Oppose Education Cuts

Cuts to funding at Sussex Downs College mean that young people in Eastbourne are being denied the access to a proper well-resourced education. The College has been writing to many students just weeks before the summer, long after they have chosen to attend, telling them courses are not running. The Eastbourne Campus will no longer deliver Foreign Language courses, Film, or PE at A-Level. This leaves the Eastbourne with inadequate provision as the College delivers nearly all state funded A-Level classes in the town.

These cuts mean experienced and dedicated teachers are losing their jobs. The NUT is calling on management to halt these cuts.

Additionally the College is cutting A-Level delivery hours so a full time student will get only 12 hours teaching time per week and vital support provision is being cut. The A-Level Centre is left without its library as this is being shut and despite spiralling levels of students facing mental health issues nationally Sussex Downs College is completely closing its counselling service.

Our Young People in Eastbourne deserve better than this. Send a message to Sussex Downs Management and the Government.

Teachers in the NUT are holding a series of strikes that could last well into the Autumn term if management will not back down. Please support us.
